

4 PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM COUNTY JAIL

Our Injured in Fall From Opening—
All Were Held on Misdemeanor
Charges—Hole Cut in Wall and Cell.

"BUSTER" ROBERTS ONE TO TAKE FRENCH LEAVE

Three men escaped from the Pineville jail last night by cutting an opening in the steel cage and knocking a hole in the outer brick wall. A fourth prisoner, injured in the drop from the hole, was unable to escape from the grounds.

The men who made their escape, all held on liquor or misdemeanor charges, were: "Buster" Roberts, J. Homan and Fred Erosheer. Columbus Taylor who failed to make good his escape, was painfully injured about the back.

The delivery was staged immediately after midnight yesterday evening, and discovered at 8 o'clock, an hour or so later. The men had patiently cut their way out of the metal cell after which they tore a hole in the 13-inch exterior brick wall of the bastille. A quilt, torn into strips and tied together, was used by the escapees to let themselves to the ground from the opening, a distance of about 15 feet.

Taylor stated that the other three men threw him from the hole and that he was injured in the fall. Whether or not he was thrust from the jail in this rude manner is a matter on conjecture.

"Buster" Roberts, Pineville's ex-chief of police, was captured last week. He had previously been held at the jail on liquor charges until he left one day and failed to return. Officers had been looking for him several months.

No clues as to where the men went after the escape were found. Jim Howard, jailer, did not make a public statement in regard to the delivery. County officials say the prisoners were more or less permanent boarders at the county's expense and that their absence is not greatly deplored.

Comparison of War Machinery Shows Italy Is Much Stronger

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—What would happen if Greece fails "to give satisfaction" for the killing of Italian officers on the interallied commission for elimination of the Albanian frontiers?

How long could Greece last against Italy, provided no other nation came to the former's aid?

Many experts think now long.

A few hours would take the well-equipped Italian navy through the Ionian Sea and into the harbor of Piræus, the defense of Athens, Greek capital. And a few well-directed shore would, these experts think, end the war.

Italy's peace-strength standing army consists of 250,000 men. But it has a well-trained, ever-ready reserve of more than two and a quarter million men. Its military service is compulsory.

Greek Army

Like Italy, Greece compels her young men to enter the military service. It commences in the 20th year and lasts for the long period of 31 years. The normal term in the active army is three years for the cavalry and two for the infantry, followed by 21 years in the first series of the reserve and eight in the second series.

The approximate strength of Greece's army is 200,000 men. But in

WEEK'S WEATHER AND CROP REPORT FOR KENTUCKY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 7.—Seasonal temperature and a generous amount of sun-line were favorable for the maturing of early and the growth of late crops. Over most of the state precipitation was light, but there were areas of considerable size, mostly in the western half, where heavy rains occurred, and the soil on low or flat lands remains too wet. Corn and tobacco on such lands are in poor condition. The corn crop in the eastern counties, also upland corn in the western section, is in very good condition and made seasonal progress toward maturity. Early corn is beginning to dry, and fodder is being pulled in the southern counties. This crop, as well as tobacco, has developed more rapidly and is farther advanced in the eastern districts, where there has been more sun-line and less rain during the growing season. The long period of cloudy, rainy weather in the western counties has interfered seriously with the growth and ripening of both crops. Tobacco rust remained localized in the dark district, due largely to the abundant sunshine and absence of strong winds. The disease seems to be drying out in the Barley section. The work of cutting and hauling proceeded rapidly. Except for two damp days, the weather was favorable for starting the curing process. Rainfall and temperature conditions have been generally favorable for late and sweet potatoes, which are doing well in the districts where they are grown extensively. In some places there has been too much rain for sweet potatoes. Gardens continue to produce well in the eastern and northern sections, but they are in poor condition in the wet southeastern counties. Pastures continue in excellent condition. Cows and soybeans are nearly ready for cutting, and are generally excellent. Alfalfa and second crop clover are weedy in the wet localities, but are doing well in other districts. Young clover is generally fine. The soil is in good condition for fall plowing, but progress is slow because of other work. The Hickman cotton district has received too much rain for best results.

AVIATION THRILLS NOT CONFINED TO PLANE PASSENGERS

How an aviation accident affects persons of nervous temperament and how the victim of the accident was able to come to tender assistance to the bystander is reported from reliable sources.

Near Pineville, the Italian aeroplane which is a frequent visitor in Middlesboro, was soaring. Suddenly something went wrong with the steering apparatus, the engine or some other vital part. Like a great wounded bird, the plane flittered feebly around, then dropped to the ground.

The aviation thrill had its effect on a feminine witness, who promptly swooned at the prospective smash. Fortunately, there was an excellent landing place and the machine descended to the ground did no harm to the aviator or his plane. Seeing the woman's predicament, the man springing from the plane and, procuring water at a nearby place, revived the indirect victim of the accident.

Italy Controls Air
Aviation is certain to play a big part in any such war. Here again, the Hellenic forces are overwhelmingly outnumbered.

Italy's active air forces include 37 first-line army and navy squadrons, with 370 first-line fighting planes and 8,000 men. Besides this force, there is a large reserve.

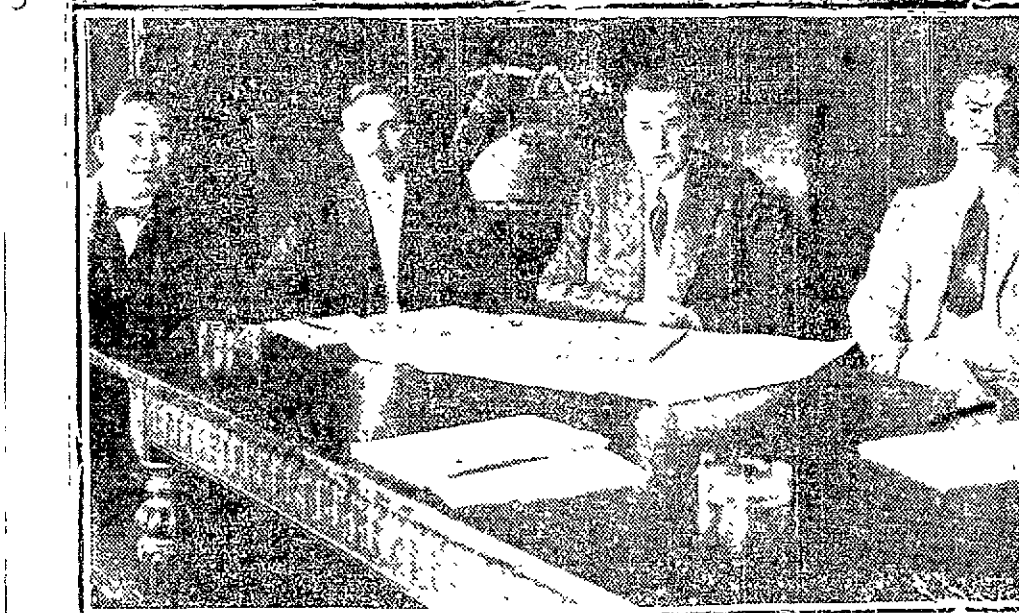

Owing to the revolution, etc., the Greek aviation strength is woefully weak. The aviation service boats about 100 officers and less than half that number of planes, many of them of almost obsolete types.

PLANNING RELIEF FOR STRICKEN JAPAN

Has Its Last Curtain Been Dropped?

More like an American theatre than a Japanese did the exterior of the Imperial Theater of Tokyo look. It is reported to have been destroyed by fire when flames finished the work of destruction started in Japan by violent earthquakes.

RELIEF RESPONSE NOT GENEROUS

Only $7.50 Far Has Been Given In Middlesboro—Other Towns
Respond Readily.

$7.50 far has been contributed from Middlesboro, to the Japanese Relief fund. This is far behind what the other towns of far less size than that of Middlesboro are doing.

The first five dollars was given by the Three States. The quota for Middlesboro is $200.

President Coolidge has designated the American Red Cross to act as relief agents for the United States in the Japanese disaster. Once more the nation is calling upon us to come to the assistance of a sister nation in a disaster unparalleled in all history.

The Red Cross makes no distinction between race, creed, or religion and in its great desire to express humanitarianism in this hour of sorrow and distress sends forth its call.

Every report indicates increasing distress, loss of life and property. The best we can do will not be too much. Any subscriptions or donations will be received here by W. S. Anderson or Miss Wilhelmina Marx.

The Red Cross headquarters in Washington have asked Mr. Anderson to write at once whether or not he would accept the designated quota of $200. He will reply in the affirmative provided Middlesboro citizens accept the responsibility by sending in their donations as soon as possible. The quota for the entire nation is $7,000,000.

CHORAL CLUB TO BEGIN REHEARSAL

Meeting Last Night Well Attended—
Prof. Carr Is Splendid Director.

The attendance last night at the Presbyterian church of the first meeting of the revived Middlesboro Choral Club was very gratifying. There were present the following: Harry Rupert Carr of Knoxville, the director; Mrs. U. G. Brummett, Mrs. J. W. Charlton, Mrs. A. B. Glover, Miss Alice Glover, Mrs. T. P. Gibson, Mrs. E. A. Rhorer, Mrs. H. E. Verran, Miss Blackburn, Miss Virginia Warren, Miss Wilhelmina F. Marx, Miss Elizabeth Collier, Miss Winnie Pippin, Miss Nori Newman, Mrs. R. L. Maddox, Mrs. J. T. Alderson, W. R. Poole, P. S. Lee, J. R. McKinnon, Will R. Hoe, Chas. G. Sayde and C. Blackburn. There were seven others who could not be present at this meeting on account of previous engagements.

After a short business meeting, at which it was decided to retain the old set of officers Will Hoe, president, Mrs. T. P. Gibson vice president, P. S. Lee secretary-treasurer. Professor Carr started a drill in vocalizing which lasted for an hour and a half.

Professor Carr stated that next Thursday night at 7:30 in the Sunday school room of the First Presbyterian church, active rehearsals would begin on "The Journey Onward," by Leslie Culner; "Patria," by Whitney Combs; "Nightfall in Granada," by Buono; "Who Knows," by L. R. Dressler; and more than likely the slow movement from the New World Symphony, by Dvorak, and another one, probably a Kory Folk song arrangement.

Professor Carr demonstrated last night that he is well qualified to be the director of a choral club, and that under his direction the members of the Middlesboro Choral Club will receive very valuable musical training, and that the rehearsals will be not only very enjoyable affairs, but will also result in the production of much worth while music that will redound to the credit of the members of the club and increase the already great fame of the City of Middlesboro.

It is confidently expected that the membership of the Middlesboro Choral Club will be increased to sixty or more members in a week or so.

"ADAM'S RIB" ENJOYED BY LARGE AUDIENCE LAST NIGHT

"Adam's Rib" a somewhat lengthy picture purporting to prove similarity of traits in all daughters of Eve, regardless of age, seems to have been generally enjoyed by those who saw it at the Menzies theatre last night. There was a capacity audience and the picture held interest through the entire 10 reels.

The rather unusual situation of a daughter's attempt to save a mother from folly by engaging the attention of her royal suitor and of the younger woman's sacrifice of reputation for her mother's sake, formed the theme of the picture.

The setting of Milton Sills, who, in the role of the husband, used his gold to send the king back to his throne in order to save his wife from folly, was splendid.

BUSINESS MEN ASKED TO DO THEIR MAILING EARLY

Two thousand or more pieces of mail which are brought to the postoffice at night could be dropped into the letter receptacle at noon, according to local postal authorities. The prevailing condition which is even becoming worse causes the clerks to be swamped with mail and often causes a part of it to be delayed.

Cooperation on the part of business men in mailing all letters and packages that are ready at noon will not only be a great help to the postal service but will also allow their communications to be handled more promptly.

Miners Want More Than Ten Per Cent
Increase and Check-Off—Set-

Miners Now.

OUTLOOK FOR SETTLEMENT NOW APPEARS OPTIMISTIC

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7.—Miners union leaders went into session here today with delegates of the organization representing the anthracite workers determined to recommend a course which may end suspension of mining. John L. Lewis, union president, however, would give no indication as to what decision had been reached, although his associates are optimistic as to possible results.

For the moment, decision for the ending of the shut down rests with the miners. Governor Pinchot's peace proposal was accepted by operators practically in full up to the moment of today's meeting, but failed to gain complete assent of union representatives. They continued up to the last minute to ask a wage increase greater than ten per cent and installation of the check off system, but it is understood that the peace committee is framing a compromise to meet the full demand.

By Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7.—Anthracite mine operators and officials of the miners' union yesterday resumed conferences with Governor Pinchot to discuss possible terms of a settlement of the differences which caused suspension in the hard coal fields, September 1. On adjournment for lunch, leaders on both sides reported little change in the situation.

URGES STUDY OF U. S. CONSTITUTION

Week of Sept. 15-22 To Be "Constitution Week"—Document 136
Years Old

By Associated Press.

FORT HAYES, Ohio, Sept. 7.—In compliance with instructions from the Secretary of War Major General James H. McRae, commanding the Fifth Corps Area, which comprises the states of Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Kentucky, has issued an order directing that the week of September 15 to 22 be observed as Constitution Week.

During this week ceremonies will be held at each post, camp and station under military control in celebration of the 136th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States. At least once during the period, stated troops will be assembled and, as a part of the ceremony, talks on the adoption and history of the Constitution and what it means and stands for, will be given by properly qualified persons.

In connection with the observances of Constitution Week a recent letter from the Adjutant General of the Army states:

"On September 17, 1923, the Constitution of the United States will have been in existence, as the fundamental law of the land, for one hundred and thirty-six years. It can therefore be said by this document that it has stood the test of the time and forms the firm foundation of the liberal institutions of our country and is the underlying guarantee that all Americans look to as the bulwark of their liberties. It may also be said to have served as a basis for similar constitution of liberal governments of the peoples of other countries.

"It is unfortunate that we are now passing through a critical period in American as well as in World History, and the times call for the full cooperation of all loyal citizens to avert evil tendencies that go to subvert our Constitution and to restore at least the American World to sound thinking and more intense patriotism."

Girl's Shot Brings Down Huge Five-Ton Monster

How an elephant weighing nearly five tons was brought down with a single shot by a slip of a girl weighing scarcely more than one of the huge monster's tusks, was related upon the return to America of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson from their two-year hunting expedition in Africa where "Trailing African Wild Animals," released by Metro Pictures Corporation, was photographed. This remarkable photoplay is at the Manring Theatre, Friday.

Elephant hunting is the most dangerous, as well as the most exciting sport there is, for the monster is able to her and sent at a distance of five or six hundred feet, although his vision is limited to a range of less than fifty yards. An elephant dislikes noise of any sort and is often startled into the wildest fury by the mere snapping of a twig. His rage in this respect is only surpassed by his fear at the sight of a field mouse.

POWELL'S VALLEY NOTES

The Fair at La Follette was a genuine success. The Powell's Valley high school took two premiums and their exhibit was unusually good. Those receiving premiums for the best display of fancy work, cooking, and canned goods were Miss Elizabeth Farris, Mrs. Grover Sharp, Mrs. Gideon Sharp, and Mrs. J. T. Thomas.

Your Health

Typhoid Fever

Typhoid fever occurs most in summer and early fall.

The typhoid bacillus seems to be somewhat irregular in susceptibility in different individuals. Its favorite range in both males and females is from 15 to 16 years old to about 25. Don't let your summer vacation be broken up and your after life interfered with by contracting this disease.

If your vacation is spent in the city, your chance of infection is rather remote. Cities have reduced typhoid almost to the minimum. In 1922 the extremely low rate of 3.15 for every hundred thousand persons was averaged by the large cities of the United States.

Drinking water is a common source of typhoid infection. If you are drinking well water in a rural district, and are not sure, boil the water. Don't drink raw milk unless you wish to invite typhoid bacilli to dwell in you.

Watch out for the common house fly. He is a carrier of this trouble. Avoid bathing in polluted water. Persons who have had typhoid may continue to carry the bacilli in their systems for weeks and even months. Such persons are called "typhoid carriers." Be on the lookout also for this bacilli in polluted soil.

Typhoid begins with a slight headache, loss of appetite and lassitude. There is some fever and restlessness at night but nothing of a pronounced nature so that one may be on guard. This is just the trouble—you have contracted typhoid and don't know it. The safe way is always to have your guard up and not give this bacillus half a chance.

underbrush and two elephants stalked through the clearing to the water. Immediately they scented danger and the female returned to the brush. The Johnsons were not then within range of the elephant's vision, but the monster caught their direction by scent and turned toward them. Mr. Johnson fired four times, each shot missing as the huge beast lunged over the ground. The distance between them and the animal had shortened until they were within range of the elephant's vision. As soon as he saw them the elephant lowered his trunk and charged. Instead of retreating, Mrs. Johnson bent on one knee and, raising her heavy elephant gun, fired one shot. The beast crashed to the ground and the space between him and Mrs. Johnson was less than twenty feet.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

In loss of life the Japanese earth-quake seems likely to prove the most appalling disaster in history. The to fix it, Italy had five members, swarming populations of oriental Anatolia through the disputed district, countries lead themselves to almost they were killed from ambush. It's credible numbers in such cases. A scene of the most lawless, bandit-infested for property loss, figures are deceiving regions on earth. The murders rice. Except for a comparatively few may have been common brigands—not fine buildings, Japanese structures are more like handkerchiefs, worth little more than so many tents and affording about the same shelter. Reconstruction will be rapid.

Italy and Greece

Among the boundaries the World all diplomats agree she couldn't have War left unscathed was the Greek-Italian border.

self-respect, Greece threatened. Italy almost instantly declared war on Greece, islands, bombarding one of them, thus getting control of the Adriatic Sea, which she's long wanted to make an Italian lake of.

League of Nations

Greece appealed to the League of Nations.

Under League rules, a member committing an act of war against another member, in defiance of the rest of the members, thereby commits an act of war against all of them.

Italy denies she's committed an act of war, but everybody knows better.

But the League's two big members are England and France. They disagree over France's Ruhr policy. Each wants Italy to side with her on this question. Query: Will either dare to risk angering Italy by defending Greece?

True, the League has other members, but it's unlikely the smaller ones can do much if England and France fear to act.

Apt to Spread

If Italy pushes hostilities against Greece, she almost automatically involves Yugoslavia (Greater Serbia) and then Turkey, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary and maybe Russia. After that, nobody can tell where trouble will stop.

Bid for Popularity

Italy not only wants to control the Adriatic.

She wants territory on the Adriatic's eastern shore, too. It was what she went into the World War for. The peace treaty excluded her out of it. By beating Greece (which will be easy for her if others don't interfere) she may get it yet.

Premier Mussolini may have a personal stake, also. When a near-revolution made him virtual dictator he was very popular. There are signs that, lately, he's been losing much of this popularity. Jingdom may restore it.

In the Ruhr

story's current that Chancellor Stresemann has decided to cease "passive resistance" in the Ruhr and is negotiating secretly, with a good prospect of ending Franco-German difficulties. This story's denied, too. It's too soon to guess who's telling the truth.

Coal Miners' Strike

The hard coal miners finally struck, despite President Coolidge's efforts, through Governor Pincher of Pennsylvania, to prevent it. It's promise there will be plenty of soft coal but most people will be surprised if it isn't mighty expensive.

ROBINSON'S CIRCUS AND TRAINED ANIMAL SHOW IN MIDDLESBORO SOON

Colorful posters, depicting the many wonders of the John Robinson Circus and Trained Wild Animals have been posted on the billboards of the city and countryside, while lithographs, highly colored, hang from the store windows, all proclaiming the appearance here soon of "America's Oldest and Best Circus."

This is the 100th anniversary tour of the John Robinson Circus and the four long trains, loaded to the guards with elephants, wild and savage animals; horses, ponies, tents, parade equipment, and as well as the sleepers, that are the summer homes of the hundred of performers and workmen will roll into town on the morning of Wednesday, September 10, for parade in the forenoon and afternoon.

FOR EVENING WEAR

Metal cloth promises a great vogue for evening wear in Paris this coming season, but is not expected to be popular at the expense of brocades or embroideries.

The embroideries are becoming Chinese and Indo-Chinese now—Egyptian patterns are quite forgotten.

Embroideries may be of beads, too, and it is quite the thing to have one's gown beaded in jewel-like designs.

Satin and taffeta are the materials chosen for young girls' evening and dancing dresses. They may be embroidered or ruffled trimmed. Ribbon is used to decorate them in every possible fashion—as flounces, ruffles, ruffles and sashes.

Of the gowns sketched, one is of silver cloth beaded with rhinestones, the next of ruffled satin, the third of brocade and satin combined.

Tainted Air

Don't put away cooked food in the kitchen closet. It will taint the air and will itself be tainted.

Cheese Economy

Dried and left-over bits of cheese should be grated and put in a covered glass jar. They can be used for macaroni, potatoes, etc.

Smooth Patterns

Always press a pattern smooth before using it. Use a warm, not a hot iron.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

Canned Pears

Do you ever use canned pears for salad in place of pineapple?

Do you ever use pears canned in a heavy syrup for a company dessert with nuts and whipped cream?

Do you ever pickle pears and serve them with meats in the winter time?

If you never have canned pears for these purposes try it this year and see if it isn't very much worth while.

Pears for salad should be canned in a light syrup. The old pack method is preferred.

Cold Pack Pears for Salads

Wash and pare fruit and cut in halves. Remove cores. Dip in boiling water and let stand one and one-half minutes. Dip into cold water and drain. Pack in sterilized jars, adjust rubber and pour over thin syrup. Half seal, process 20 minutes, counting the time after the water begins to boil. The water in the hot water bath outfit should cover the tops of the jars to at least an inch when the one-period process is used and a home-made outfit must do the work.

Thin Syrup

Three cups sugar, 2 cups water. When water is boiling sift in sugar. This prevents scum from rising and saves time and sugar, as no skimming is necessary. When sugar is dissolved the syrup is ready to use.

Pears canned for use in desserts are canned in heavy syrup. Perfectly ripe, choice fruit should be used. The fruit is prepared and blanched and processed the same as in the preceding rule. The syrup should be boiled until a ball is formed when tried in cold water and the syrup clings to the spoon sluggishly instead of pouring in an even stream.

Ginger pears are delicious and hard green pears which seem worthless can be used.

Ginger Pears

Nine pounds pears, 6 pounds sugar, 4 cups water, 6 ounces crystallized ginger, 4 lemons.

When water is boiling sift in sugar. When sugar is dissolved add pears which have been pared and cut in thin slices. Pears discolor very quickly, so drop them into a large pan of weak salt water as they are sliced. When ready to use drain water and let stand in clear water for five minutes. Drain and put in syrup. Boil until fruit begins to look transparent. Then add to the grated rind of one lemon, the juice of four and the ginger cut in small bits. Cook until the pears are clear and the mixture is thick. Put into sterilized glasses and seal when cool.

Pickled Pears

Six pounds pears, 4 cups cider vinegar, 2 pounds sugar, 12 sticks cinnamon, 2 teaspoons whole cloves.

Heat vinegar, sugar and spices to the boiling point. Pare pears, cut in halves if large and core. Pour over hot vinegar and let stand over night. In the morning boil slowly until fruit is tender and clear. Pack in sterilized jars, cover with boiling sirup and seal.

Pear Conserve

Five pounds pears, 5 pounds sugar, 1 cup water, 1 pound raisins, 3 lemons, 2 oranges, 1-2 cups English walnuts, 1 cup preserved ginger.

Pare pears. Cut in thin slices. Put water and pears in preserving kettle, sift over sugar and bring very slowly to the boiling point. Simmer until pears are tender. Add raisins, seeded, juice and grated rind of lemons, juice and grated rind of oranges, nuts and ginger cut very fine. Boil for half an hour or until thick. Pour into sterilized pint jars and seal. The rind of the oranges and lemons can be par-boiled through two waters, drained and cut in shreds and added with the juice.

Pear and Pineapple Conserve

Pare and core pears. Weigh. To each pound of pears use the grated rind and juice of 1-2 lemons, grated rind and juice of 1 orange, 1-2 small pineapple cut in cubes, 3-4 as much sugar as fruit.

Cut pears in thin slices or cubes. Put pears and pineapple in preserving kettle and cook until tender. Measure and add sugar, oranges and lemons. Cook until transparent. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Tired Backs

The housewife should practice doing most of her work with her back straight. Raise the sink or table to the point where the body need not bend to reach to the work.

Stationary Tubs

Stationary tubs may be mounted on gas pipe legs cut to the proper length rather than on the molded legs sold with the tubs which are generally too short.

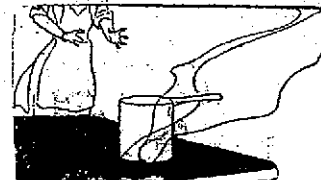

Table Tops

Wooden table tops require constant scrubbing to keep them in good condition. Labor will be lightened if they are covered with oil cloth which may be wiped with a damp cloth. Glass tops are safe goods for tables where there is no danger of breakage from hot sauce pans being set upon them.

Thinware

A tin utensil should never be put over the fire without something in it.

It is tin melts at a low temperature. Neither should acid fruits be cooked in it.

Bites and Stings

All sorts of bites and stings, whether from wasps, bees or hornets, should be sucked to remove as much poison as possible. Then bind a slice of acid fruit, apple, tomato, or grape to the wound. If the pain is very severe, wet a folded cloth in alcohol or vinegar and bind to the wound.

Another Electrical Triumph For The Home

Electrically Heated Hot Water

Dear Madam:

Have you ever considered just what the installation of an Electric Water Heater would mean in your home?

We carry and recommend the SEPCO AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC WATER HEATER, which, we believe, is the last word in Electric Water Heating. It means convenience, economy and constant dependability in hot water supply and it is absolutely automatic. When the Timer is set, the current is turned on. As soon as the desired amount of hot water is ready, the current is automatically turned off. This ideal condition is accomplished without the slightest bother, no running down cellar, no coal or ashes to lug, no danger from fumes or open flames. SEPCO temperature control prevents excessive heating of water and consequent saving of current.

The SEPCO HEATER is ruggedly and scientifically built, attractively finished and fully guaranteed. It is trouble proof as well as fool proof. It has no moving parts to wear out, nothing to get out of order, and when once properly installed requires no further service or attention.

Yours very truly,

KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY,
By W. C. STAIR, Manager.

P. S.: We will also be very glad to demonstrate the advantages of cooking electrically, no obligation on your part whatsoever.
